An aerial view of Access Road reveals the area approximately 40 volunteers searched, Saturday, in an effort to locate Marc Cobb. The yellow areas were “grid searched” and the blue areas reflect a search of the creek on both sides of the banks all the way to the Tenn-Tom Waterway.

Saturday’s search for a missing Fulton man yielded little in the way of clues as to his whereabouts, leaving family and friends with the same unanswered question: Where is Marc Cobb?

Cobb was last seen on Jan. 12 at America’s Inn in Fulton, where he lived. The 25-year-old was reported missing by his sister on Jan. 14. She could not locate Cobb at his residence. Harold Cobb, the missing man’s father, said he failed to show up at his job at Max Home, also located off Access Road in Fulton.

Marc Cobb has no vehicle and has not picked up his last paycheck from his employer. He has seemingly not contacted family or friends since Jan. 12.
